

RECYCLED LEATHER

Recycled Leather is a sustainable material choice in the promotional industry, offering an eco-friendly alternative to traditional leather. Made from post-consumer and post-industrial leather scraps, recycled leather reduces the environmental impact associated with leather production, including deforestation, water usage, and greenhouse gas emissions.

Promotional products made from recycled leather can include notebooks, keychains, wallets, and other accessories. These products retain the luxurious look and feel of traditional leather while being more environmentally responsible. By opting for recycled leather, companies can showcase their commitment to sustainability and ethical sourcing.

The recycling process for leather involves grinding down leather scraps and binding them with natural latex or other eco-friendly binders. This creates a durable and flexible material that can be used in a variety of applications. Recycled leather products can be customized with company logos and branding, providing an effective marketing tool that appeals to eco-conscious consumers.

